JL- For 226 remand and re King evidence: on p. 3 the chemical compositions in the JFK case here are only "comparable," which is not an identification and not the requirement for saying common origin. On page 1, graf 2, not that they say they can generally make a definitive interpretation. Ray's was a brand new rifle so the chances there were and should have been good for making an identification, as Herb testified.
HW 9/27/79